PUB HISTORY

For 40 years, this site was home to the Bernard airport, once the oldest continuously operated airport in Oregon. It also boasted the shortest route known to modern air travel, a 6-mile postal route between here and Portland. While many well-known pilots touched down on the airfield, perhaps the most famous was Tex Rankin, who held many stunt flying, endurance and acrobatic records throughout the 1920s and '30s. A custom propeller made for Rankin now hangs overhead in the Cedar Hills pub. While Tex and his pals no longer buzz by – inverted, just a few feet off the ground – the place retains a buzz all its own.
