OUR HISTORY

In 1995, McMenamins opened this brewpub overlooking the Columbia River, where it sits on a beautiful and historical site. Cast your imagination back to the early 1940s: on this very spot on the Columbia, called Ryan Point, a massive, bustling Kaiser shipyard was constructed, soon after the attack on Pearl Harbor, to produce baby aircraft escort carriers. If you look closely, you can still see some of the original pilings that supported enormous hangars where the ships were constructed. Today, this scenic location is perfect for relaxing with an IPA made right here in our very first Washington State brewery.
